DISCLAMER

I know it's boring but I have to do it, I likely could get sued otherwise, I have no intention of geting sued. none at all.

I DO NOT own tales of symhpony or halo in any way, shape, or form. I just own a copy of each that I play. not a part of the busnesses. ever. and I never will either. But they are great games so I desided to write my first fanfic about them. oh and just a warnig it is short as it was, indeed my first so I do not want to hear about how short it was.

Chapter 1

Lloyd was told never to come here, and now he knew why. It was a cave just a short ways from the shore you had to swim into a hole under the shallow part of the sea, but that did not stop it from being extremely deep, he in fact was surprised that he made it all the way down, and that there was breathable air in the small under water cave. But all this fell into the background as he noticed a purple oval that seemed two dimensional and suspended in the air.

"Hmmmm... I think it's a portal of some kind" said a voice behind him. Stunned for a moment he slowly turned around and saw Collett though she was one of his few friends his brain took a moment to register her voice she was the chosen she was one day going to save syvalrant.

"Why did you follow me down here?"He finally asked.

"Its not just me! Genus followed me here. Speaking of which where is he?" she asked looking around the cave which was not much larger than a prison cell. Just then a spiky silver thing popped up. Lloyd know what, or rather who, it was. "GENUS!" he yelled lifting the ten-year-old out of the water. Which startled Collett. Which sent her fling through the portal. Which made Lloyd run after her, and he was still caring Genus. Instantly they found themselves in a dimly lit room with only a what looked like a full- grown man made of metal. He got up, pulled a piece of metal from the side of his leg pointed it at Genus it made a loud BANG! Genus doubled over in pain, cluching his arm. Lloyd used his demon fang but that only seemed to phase him as lighning spread across his body.

A man walked in, holding in his mouth an about 3-inch smoldering stick. "Chief! What have I told you about watching that thing! Let alone shooting at whatever comes out!". Rings where now floting up the metal mans body, and the lighting stoped, but he didn't seem to notice. Genus had swallowed an apple gell by then followed by an angry "The fucking label lies! The apple flavor dosn't help the fucking medicine taste better!" he recived a rather hard swat on the head from collet who was saying "Don't swear! Just becouse raine was missing for a week dosn't mean you can do whatever you want!"

The man interupted"Raine? someone by that name came through about a week ago. Ever sence she was taking "care" of the troops she will have them hold bukets of water in the hall standing up for an three hours at a time for skiping training. At first no one took her seriously. first time that happened she forcebly put the man over her knee and spanked him. Jimmy still can't sit right. No ones been late sence."

A voice they instantly recognised as Raines said "where are your manners, honestly, introduce your selves!"

A worried look appered on the mans face and he quickly said "I'm sargent major johnson" the metal man took his helmet off, but they still could not see his face, due to the poor lighting, and he slowly said "I'm sparten 117, master cheif, or john. whichever you prefer."

please comment wether you liked it or not. Remember contructive criticism IS NOT "Loyed is gay" or "halo sucks" IT IS "I think that you should have done _ differently"if people like it I will continue if they do not I wont, but rather start a new one, so yes comment, please do, and if you notice a plot hole or think something dosn't fit I'll listen.
